SAN JUAN MINE IN NEW HANDS

Controlling Interest of Graham County Property Held By Phoenix Men Passes to Director of the Miami Copper Company

A transaction of special interest to Phoenix and more especially those interested in mining was consummated during the week just ending, in which the control of the San Juan mine, located on the Graham county side of the mountains of the Clifton-Morenci district, passed from the ownership of local parties to F. W. Estabrook.

The details of the transaction were not given to the public but it is known that one of the results will be the immediate development of the claims owned by the company on a large scale. Mr. Estabrook is prominent in the copper world, but more particularly known to Arizona by reason of the fact that he is a member of the board of directors of the Miami Copper company. His immediate representative in the transaction was Ethridge Walker, who in the capacity of mining engineer has represented him in a number of transactions. Incidentally Mr. Walker will be the president in the new organization, the other members of the board not having been permanently selected.

The twelve claims of the San Juan Mining company were originally located by a woman who had come out from the east and prospected over the Lone Star mining district. Subsequently she was able to interest eastern capital and a development company was formed which resulted in a partial development of the claims, the deepest work being prosecuted to 325 feet with a little over 1500 feet of lateral work. The records show that over $300,000 worth of ore was shipped by this company when, due to a disagreement between the stockholders and the management of the company and the further fact that copper had dropped to 9 cents, the company ceased operations. The Arizona stockholders continued to protect the titles by doing the required assessment work and it was from this group that the property was secured last February by Dr. R. W. Craig, Gus Hirschfeld, T. J. Sparks and J. C. Adams. The transaction was promoted by Louis A. Dunham, who incidentally figured prominently in the sale to the present owning companies of the Inspiration property near Miami and the Ray Consolidated Copper company at Ray. During the short time the above mentioned owners had the property 19 cars of ore were shipped to the C. & A. smelter at Douglas, the returns on the first nine cars which is all that had been received to date, showed a net average value of $1434.22 a car. In addition to the shipments made, a number of churn drills have been operated, the last report of the company showing 973,000 tons of ore in place averaging 1.57.

The recent work at the property has been in charge of Sam Fields who for some years operated as superintendent of the C. & A. shaft No. 2 in the Bisbee-Warren district and later was in charge of the work at Shaft No. 2 of the Ray Consolidated at Ray. It was after he had been working on the property ninety days that Mr. Fields became a shareholder in the company. The future work will be under the direction of Mr. Walker who has not made announcement as to who his assistants will be. The rumor that the Levisohns are associated with Mr. Estabrook in this venture has been denied from Miami with the statement added that other of the Miami Copper company principal stockholders than Mr. Lewisohn are concerned in the Estabrook purchase.

BIKE'S COMEBACK IS A SURE THING

Bicycle riding has increased to such an extent during the past two years that the prediction of a million new bicycles this season bids fair to come true.

Bicycles are lighter, cheaper and better than when the fathers of the present generation of youngsters made their weekly club runs on the old heavy "safeties" over rough, uneven roads. Already "bike" clubs are being formed all over the country and a revival of weekly club runs will be seen on all of our automobile roads this season.

The Fisk Rubber Company of Chicago Falls, Mass., is taking special interest in boys clubs. It has appointed a club chief who is sending instruction books on forming clubs as well as banners, arm bands, and other paraphernalia without charge to boys.

SURGICAL DRESSINGS COMMITTEE MEETING

The Phoenix branch of the Surgical Dressings Committee under the able leadership of the state chairman, Mrs. Gordon Tweed, and the state secretary, Mrs. William K. James, has just closed a season of decided accomplishment. Twenty meetings were held in Phoenix and a total of 14,050 dressings sent to New York, there to be sterilized and forwarded to the emergency hospitals of Europe. Some of the outside committees sent their boxes independently, which raised the total for the state of Arizona to 17,309 dressings, a result of which we may be justly proud.

The following chairmen had charge of the outside committees: Mrs. Stanley F. Morse, Tucson; Mrs. T. E. Pollock, Flagstaff; Mrs. W. W. Ross, Prescott; Mrs. L. O. Howard, Globe; Mrs. Gerald Sherman, Bisbee; Miss Gladys Scott, Wilcox; Mrs. E. B. Perrin, Williams; and Mrs. A. C. McQueen, Mesa. Those in the southern part of the state have closed the work for this season, but in the north they expect to be busy all summer.

Arizona has never failed to respond to the appeal for help in time of disaster, and she has been glad to add her mite to the offering which this nation is making to the defenders of other nations across the water.

SOME OF THE LOVELY PALMS IN LOS OLIVOS

There are over five miles of fine palms along the roads in Los Olivos besides hundreds of others in the yards and along the private driveways. This picture was taken at "Casa Blanca" and across the lawn is shown the row of palms which forms the stately boundary of Los Olivos along Central Avenue. There are also many large olive trees in Los Olivos, notably those in the Chalmers place, in fact it was from them that the subdivision took its name, and along Monte Vista road, between Central Avenue and Buena Avenue (Indian school car line), the last road to be opened in Los Olivos, olives have been set out in the parking.
